Civilian Response to an Active Assailant and Workplace Violence

Course Overview:

Unfortunately, active shooter situations in the U.S. are happening more often, and you never know where or when you may be the victim of a violent situation. When active violence occurs, every moment counts. Law Enforcement response will take time. This course will give you proactive defense strategies to use in those moments before they arrive. How will you spend your time?

This course will provide the mental tools you need to assess and react quickly in an active assailant situation. This training is meant to build confidence in the student and will enhance their ability to make decisions that could save lives.

Target Audience:

Corporations, Places of Worship, Government Offices, Healthcare Facilities, Schools, Entertainment Venues, and Retail Businesses

Instructor for this Session:

Our instructors are police practice experts with decades of field, investigative, supervisory, and management experience. Each member of our training staff possesses a deep understanding of active assailant response and how it applies to civilians. Our trainers, with complete biographies, can be found on our website.
